

Richard Smalley

Senior Associate Director

BA (Hons), MCIfA

Richard forms part of the Cheltenham Heritage Team, covering south-west England and Wales. With a background in archaeological geophysics, survey and excavation, Richard has a broad knowledge of archaeology from all periods across the United Kingdom. Richard is experienced in the writing and submitting of reports and managing fieldwork projects, and has technical knowledge of a number of illustration packages and processing software such as AutoCAD, ArcGIS and Corel.

Experience

2016 – to date	Senior Archaeological Consultant, CgMs
2014 - 2016	Archaeological Consultant, CgMs
2013 - 2014	Archaeological Researcher/Graphics Technician, CgMs–
2010 - 2013	Senior Project Officer, Stratascan Ltd
2009 - 2010	Projects Officer, Archaeological Research Services Ltd
2006 - 2009	Project Officer, Stratascan Ltd
2004 – 2006	Survey Team Leader, Stratascan Ltd
2003	Various fieldwork and excavation experience

Key Projects

Wells, Somerset

Arranged and managed an archaeological trial trench evaluation and subsequent excavation for a residential development on the outskirts of Wells, Somerset.

Enfield, London

Organised and managed archaeological trenching at a site in Enfield for Condition discharge relating to an industrial development.

Prestbury, Gloucestershire

Arranged and managed a programme of archaeological works including pre-determination geophysical survey and trial trenching for a proposed residential development.

Charfield, Gloucestershire

Arranged and managed a programme of archaeological works including pre-determination geophysical survey and trial trenching for a proposed residential development.