

Duncan Hawkins BA (Hons), MIFA
Director of Archaeology

Professional Qualifications

BA (Hons) Archaeology
Member of the Institute of Field Archaeologists (MIFA)

Career Profile

1997 to date	Director, CgMs
1993 – 1997	Archaeological Consultant, Lawson Price Environmental
1992 – 1993	Project Manager, Museum of London Archaeology Service
1989 – 1992	Planning and Negotiations Officer, Museum of London's Department of Greater London Archaeology
1987 – 1989	Senior Archaeologist, Museum of London's Department of Greater London Archaeology
1985 – 1987	Archaeologist working on various projects in England, Scotland and Wales.

Between 1991 and 1995 Duncan served with the Territorial Army with 200 (Sussex Yeomanry) Battery, 100 Field Regiment of the Royal Artillery and latterly with 127 Squadron of 78 Regiment, Royal Engineers.

Relevant Experience

Duncan Hawkins specialises in the archaeology of London and the south east and has extensive consultancy, excavation and project management experience.

Project Examples

Angmering, West Sussex - large scale residential development site

Charter Quay, Kingston upon Thames - Mixed use riverside regeneration scheme

Greenwich Reach - residential riverside regeneration scheme

Royal Ordnance Factory, Enfield - residential regeneration scheme

Park Farm, Ashford - strategic residential development site

Ravenside, Ipswich Airport redevelopment - strategic residential development site