

Elizabeth DaSilva

Associate Director

BA (Hons)

Elizabeth has experience within both the public and private sectors, working across a wide range of heritage-led projects. These have varied from large-scale housing schemes to a broad variety of works in relation to private properties.

Her key area of work is design focused, in particular ensuring high standards of design in historically sensitive contexts.

Experience

Elizabeth gained a first class honours degree in Urban and Environmental planning and is currently studying for an MSc in Conservation of the Historic Environment.

She joined the Historic Buildings Team at CGMS in 2014 and has worked across a wide range of projects.

Elizabeth is particularly interested in building and urban design and provides specific design advice in order that modern additions to the historic built environment respect the fabric and form of the buildings and/or Conservation Area they will form party to.

She has worked on some complex renovation and reconfiguration projects, including roof and basement extensions to listed structures, both within and without London.
