Town Centre Uses

CgMs Planning advised the YWCA Central Club in connection with their relocation from Portland Place in Central London to new premises at Bankside within the London Borough of Southwark.

CgMs achieved planning permission for the change of use of various floors within an existing commercial building to enable the YWCA Central Club to operate its charitable functions within the building including offices, training rooms, a gymnasium and a cafe.

This work involved a detailed examination of the buildings planning history in order to establish the existing lawful uses, as well as the preparation and submission of a planning application for required changes of use, accompanied by a detailed planning statement.
